PIANO FIGURES

1. Spell
2. Knots
3. In the Mirror
4. Interruptions
5. Song
6. Hammers
7. Alone
8. Mosaic
9. Around the Corner
10. Whirling

PIANO FIGURES was conceived for the hands of young pianists. Most of the movements are not technically challenging, though a few do require a degree of virtuosity. At all times, however, my desire was to state ideas and capture moods in the most direct and economic way possible.

PIANO FIGURES was commissioned by Philharmonie Luxembourg, and the first performance was given there by my friend Pierre-Laurent Aimard on 18 May 2006.

George Benjamin
Born in 1960, George Benjamin started to play the piano at the age of seven, and began composing almost immediately. In 1976, he entered the Paris Conservatoire to study composition with Olivier Messiaen and piano with Yvonne Loriod, after which he worked with Alexander Goehr at King’s College, Cambridge.

His first orchestral work, Ringed by the Flat Horizon, was performed at the BBC Proms when he was only 20; since then his works have continued to be played across the world. In recent years there have been major retrospectives of his work in London, Tokyo, Brussels, Berlin, Strasbourg and Madrid. The centre-point of a portrait at the 2006 Festival d’Automne in Paris was his first operatic work, Into the Little Hill, collaboration with playwright Martin Crimp which has toured widely on both sides of the Atlantic since its premiere and won the Royal Philharmonic Society’s 2008 Award for Large-Scale Composition. It received its London premiere in a new production - a collaboration between the Opera Group and London Sinfonietta - at the Royal Opera House in February 2009. His most recent work, Duet for piano and orchestra, was the Roche commission for the 2008 Lucerne Festival, where he was composer in residence, and was premiered there by Pierre-Laurent Aimard and the Cleveland Orchestra under Franz Welser-Möst. He is currently working on a second operatic collaboration with Martin Crimp, to be premiered at the Aix en Provence festival in 2012.

George Benjamin was the founding curator of the Southbank’s Meltdown Festival, and was artistic consultant to the BBC’s retrospective of twentieth century music, Sounding the Century. He is a Chevalier dans l’ordre des Arts et Lettres, a member of the Bavarian Academy of Fine Arts, and has been awarded honorary fellowships by the Guildhall School, the Royal Academy and the Royal College of Music. Since 2001 he has been the Henry Purcell Professor of Composition at King’s College, London.

He appears regularly as a conductor with the world’s leading ensembles and orchestras, and recent seasons have included engagements with London Sinfonietta (with whom he has worked on a regular basis for almost 30 years), Ensemble Modern, Ensemble Intercontemporain, BBC Symphony, Philharmonia and the Berlin Philharmonic and Royal Concertgebouw orchestras. In 1999, he made his operatic debut conducting * Pelléas et Mélisande* in Brussels and he has conducted numerous world premieres, including works by Rihm, Chin, Grisey and Ligeti.

In January 2010, there will be extensive celebrations of Benjamin’s music in San Francisco and London, marking his 50th birthday, and in June he will be in residence at the Ojai festival in California and at the Aldeburgh festival.

George Benjamin’s music is published by Faber Music and his works are recorded on Nimbus Records.
GEORGE BENJAMIN

Born in 1960, George Benjamin started to play the piano at the age of seven, and began composing almost immediately. In 1976, he entered the Paris Conservatoire to study composition with Olivier Messiaen and piano with Yvonne Loriod, after which he worked with Alexander Goehr at King’s College, Cambridge.

His first orchestral work, Rinched by the Flat Horizon, was performed at the BBC Proms when he was only 20; since then his works have continued to be played across the world. In recent years there have been major retrospectives of his work in London, Tokyo, Brussels, Berlin, Strasbourg and Madrid. The centre-point of a portrait at the 2006 Festival d’Automne in Paris was his first operatic work, Into the Little Hill, collaboration with playwright Martin Crimp which has toured widely on both sides of the Atlantic since its premiere and won the Royal Philharmonic Society’s 2008 Award for Large-Scale Composition. It received its London premiere in a new production - a collaboration between the Opera Group and London Sinfonietta - at the Royal Opera House in February 2009. His most recent work, Duet for piano and orchestra, was the Roche commission for the 2008 Lucerne Festival, where he was composer in residence, and was premiered there by Pierre-Laurent Aimard and the Cleveland Orchestra under Franz Welser-Möst. He is currently working on a second operatic collaboration with Martin Crimp, to be premiered at the Aix en Provence festival in 2012.

He appears regularly as a conductor with the world’s leading ensembles and orchestras, and recent seasons have included engagements with London Sinfonietta (with whom he has worked on a regular basis for almost 30 years), Ensemble Moderne, Ensemble Intercontemporain, BBC Symphony, Philharmonia and the Berlin Philharmonic and Royal Concertgebouw orchestras. In 1990, he made his operatic debut conducting Pelléas et Mélisande in Brussels and he has conducted numerous world premieres, including works by Rihm, Chin, Grisey and Ligeti.

In January 2010, there will be extensive celebrations of Benjamin’s music in San Francisco and London, marking his 50th birthday, and in June he will be in residence at the Ojai festival in California and at the Aldeburgh festival.

George Benjamin was the founding curator of the Southbank’s Meltdown Festival, and was artistic consultant to the BBC’s retrospective of twentieth century music, Sounding the Century. He is a Chevalier dans l’ordre des Arts et Lettres, a member of the Bavarian Academy of Fine Arts, and has been awarded honorary fellowships by the Guildhall School, the Royal Academy and the Royal College of Music. Since 2001 he has been the Henry Purcell Professor of Composition at King’s College, London.

George Benjamin’s music is published by Faber Music and his works are recorded on Nimbus Records.
GEORGE BENJAMIN

Born in 1960, George Benjamin started to play the piano at the age of seven, and began composing almost immediately. In 1976, he entered the Paris Conservatoire to study composition with Olivier Messiaen and piano with Yvonne Loriod, after which he worked with Alexander Goehr at King’s College, Cambridge.

His first orchestral work, Ringed by the Flat Horizon, was performed at the BBC Proms when he was only 20; since then his works have continued to be played across the world. In recent years there have been major retrospectives of his work in London, Tokyo, Brussels, Berlin, Strasbourg and Madrid. The centre-point of a portrait at the 2006 Festival d’Automne in Paris was his first operatic work, Into the Little Hill, collaboration with playwright Martin Crimp which has toured widely on both sides of the Atlantic since its premiere and won the Royal Philharmonic Society’s 2008 Award for Large-Scale Composition. It received its London premiere in a new production - a collaboration between the Opera Group and London Sinfonietta - at the Royal Opera House in February 2009. His most recent work, Duet for piano and orchestra, was the Roche commission for the 2008 Lucerne Festival, where he was composer in residence, and was premiered there by Pierre-Laurent Aimard and the Cleveland Orchestra under Franz Welser-Möst. He is currently working on a second operatic collaboration with Martin Crimp, to be premiered at the Aix en Provence festival in 2012.

He appears regularly as a conductor with the world’s leading ensembles and orchestras, and recent seasons have included engagements with London Sinfonietta (with whom he has worked on a regular basis for almost 30 years), Ensemble Moderne, Ensemble Intercontemporain, BBC Symphony, Philharmonia and the Berlin Philharmonic and Royal Concertgebouw orchestras. In 1999, he made his operatic debut conducting Pelléas et Mélisande in Brussels and he has conducted numerous world premieres, including works by Rihm, Chin, Grisey and Ligeti.

In January 2010, there will be extensive celebrations of Benjamin’s music in San Francisco and London, marking his 50th birthday, and in June he will be in residence at the Ojai festival in California and at the Aldeburgh festival.

George Benjamin was the founding curator of the Southbank’s Meltdown Festival, and was artistic consultant to the BBC’s retrospective of twentieth century music, Sounding the Century. He is a Chevalier dans l’ordre des Arts et Lettres, a member of the Bavarian Academy of Fine Arts, and has been awarded honorary fellowships by the Guildhall School, the Royal Academy and the Royal College of Music. Since 2001 he has been the Henry Purcell Professor of Composition at King’s College, London.

George Benjamin’s music is published by Faber Music http://www.fabermusic.com and his works are recorded on Nimbus Records, http://www.wyastone.co.uk
PIANO FIGURES

1. Spell
2. Knots
3. In the Mirror
4. Interruptions
5. Song
6. Hammers
7. Alone
8. Mosaic
9. Around the Corner
10. Whirling

Piano Figures was conceived for the hands of young pianists. Most of the movements are not technically challenging, though a few do require a degree of virtuosity. At all times, however, my desire was to state ideas and capture moods in the most direct and economic way possible.

Piano Figures was commissioned by Philharmonie Luxembourg, and the first performance was given there by my friend Pierre-Laurent Aimard on 18 May 2006.

George Benjamin

This CD is limited to 100 copies
They were available on 7 February 2010
at the concert given in the Queen Elizabeth Hall, London in celebration of the composer’s 50th birthday.
PIANO FIGURES

1. Spell
2. Knots
3. In the Mirror
4. Interruptions
5. Song
6. Hammers
7. Alone
8. Mosaic
9. Around the Corner
10. Whirling

Piano Figures was conceived for the hands of young pianists. Most of the movements are not technically challenging, though a few do require a degree of virtuosity. At all times, however, my desire was to state ideas and capture moods in the most direct and economic way possible.

Piano Figures was commissioned by Philharmonie Luxembourg, and the first performance was given there by my friend Pierre-Laurent Aimard on 18 May 2006.

George Benjamin

This CD is limited to 100 copies
They were available on 7 February 2010
at the concert given in the Queen Elizabeth Hall, London in celebration of the composer’s 50th birthday.

Recorded by Nimbus Records at Wyastone, Monmouth UK, 30 January 2010
© 2010 Wyastone Estate Limited © 2010 Wyastone Estate Limited
http://www.wyastone.co.uk
GEORGE BENJAMIN
PIANO FIGURES, played by George Benjamin

1  Spell 1.20  6  Hammers 1.32
2  Knots 0.37  7  Alone 1.18
3  In the Mirror 0.51  8  Mosaic 1.30
4  Interruptions 1.28  9  Around the Corner 2.08
5  Song 1.23  10 Whirling 0.49

Playing Time 13.02

Celebrating the composer’s 50th birthday

Promotional Copy. Not for resale